The British barque Asia reports:-Sailed from Singapore on the 19th July last, bound to Swatow with a general cargo, and 120 Chinese passengers; experiencing much squally weather and rain, until Sunday, Aug. 2nd. At 3 p.m. squally appearance to the N E.; at 4, smart squalls with much rain, wind variable beating all round the compass. The barometer's fine weather range was 29:90, fell to 29.79, ther. 82 °; at 6 light buffling airs and calms; at 8, light breeze from E.N.E. with a short heavy swell from N.E. Barometer 29.71, ther. 83 °; at 10 strong breeze and cloudy; midnight same weather. Monday, Aug. 3d, a m. unsteady breeze with squalls and rain. barometer 29.75, ther. 82°; at 4, fresh preezes from E.N.E. with heavy gusts and cloudy; at 6 moderate gale and clear, barometer 29.70, ther. 825; at 10, increasing gale and sea, took in two reefs in the top sails; noon fresh gale and clear, with a short heavy sea from the E.N.E. ship labouring heavily and the passengers' luggage rolling from side to side; lat. by obp.m. increasing gale barometer 29.69, winds same winds and weather; at 8 winds N.E.

servation 19.48 N. long, by chronometer 114.03.45 E. bar., 29.72, ther. 83°; at 4 N.E., furled the jib and main sail; at 6 by E.; midnight, hard gale from E.N.E. barometer 29.71. Tuesday, August 4. a.m. fresh with heavy passing squalls and rain, took in the mizen stay sail; at 6, same winds and weather; at 8, heavy squalls with feeling in the peninsula. While Great meter 29.64, ther. 82 °; at 11, close reefed fully, latitude by observation 21.01 N. Breakfast every morning at 11.30 A.M., long. by acct. 113.25 F. bar. 29.64, ther. 82°. At I hour 45 minutes p.m., increasing gale; variable from N.E. to E.N.E.; close reefed the main top sail; at 2, violent gusts with hard rain, thick and dark; impossible to see any distance from the ship; Bar. 29.60, Ther. 82°. Put on relieving tackles to the rudder; and manned them; at 4 same wind and weather; ship labouring and pitching fearfully, and taking in green seas over all, fore and aft; at 5, goose winged the fore sail, and put on extra chain lashings on the starboard anchor, it being Chinese. According to the rumours to almost pitched off the bows, at every plunge the vessel made, and it was with great dit ficulty that we secured it; from 8 to 10, tf severe gusts with heavy rain, midnight hard gale; six mon at the relieving tackles and two at the wheel; ship taking in seas authorities have decided to attempt defore and aft, bar. 29.53 ther. 820. Wed- fining the actual bounds of Portuguese nesday, August 5th, a.m., winds variable and Chinese jurisdiction. It is alleged from N E. to E.N.E., blowing in severe gusts with heavy rain, and passing clouds, ship labouring heavily, and shipping seas fore and aft; at daylight same winds and weather, bar. 29.52, ther. 82°; from 9 to 10, same weather; noon blowing in squalls | and the Steamer Wharf, the one side to a complete hurricane from E.N.E., accompanied with hard rain and passing clouds ship making very bad weather of it, and shipping great quantities of water, lat. by account 20.23 N. long. by account 113.20 E., bar. 29.50 ther. 82°; p.m., blowing complete hurricane at times; at 2, the ship burying herself with the great quantity of water on deck. The Chinese large water tanks and other lumber got adrift and the sea washed them from side to side, after which we scuttled the tanks, and they were with the other lumber, washed overboard; most of the passengers forced themselves into day that the four foreign-built gunboats the cabin to save themselves from being and some twenty sailing Chinese-armed washed overboard; at 2.30, the wind shifted lorchas, which were then lying in the to East, which brought the sea tumbling on board; we were obliged to wear ship as soon as possible (at a great risk) to the northward; at 4 p.m., winds E.S.E., bar. 29.46; shipped a heavy sea aft, which almost filled the cabins, capsizing everything in its way;

It is herfectly stood that unless backed Curious rumours have for some days powers Portugal will get no been floating about this Colony respectwhatever; from China; ing some recent negociations between the their aid a totally new pla tion must be adopted. In Portuguese Authorities resident at Maing to Peking the Governor cao and the Chinese Authorities of Canton. let her despatch a duly accr Enquiry in various quarters has suffiter and staff, whose engage be binding, and rigidly en ciently convinced us that these have the Peninsula. As the mo been enormously exaggerated, but on the opponent of things as the principle of "no smoke without fire" we shall not be deemed ins ing that we should heartily there is, as usual, some slight foundation Minister, upright, decided in fact for the excited state of popular diced, who might be desp to place the affairs of Mad satisfactory footing. Britain may honestly deem itself above suspicion as regards jealousy of the once flourishing home of Camöeus, we do not LOCAL pretend to be wholly uninterested in the fortunes of Macao, whether it be from its intimate association with the record of foreign intercourse with China or considered as the most likely spot at which the first serious intention of again coming into collision with foreign territorial interests would be manifested by the which we have alluded, and the statements put forth by various correspondents of Portuguese journals, the Canton that they desire to divide the port, or more correctly speaking the inner harbour, by a central line drawn from the direction of Casa Branca between Lapa be deemed within Portuguese, and the other side within Chinese, jurisdiction. To this proposition the Macaenses stoutly object. They urge that all sorts of complications would ensue, that vessels would be prohibited from taking refuge on the Lapa side during typhoons, &c., from fear of Mandarin extortions, and in fine call upon their Governor to have nothing to say to any such proposition. It was currently reported here the day before yesterharbour of Maoao had been ordered to leave, under peril of capture, instanter, We did not attach much importance to the report, circumstantially as it reached us, not thinking it likely that Portugal at 4 p.m. same winds and weather, bar. was prepared just yet to back the Go vernor of Macao in declaring war against China and careful enquiry proved that our surmises were correct. The existence of, and ready credit given to, such a high sea still running; at 5, carried away report, however, shews that popular feeling in Macao is highly excited against what its residents deem the unwarrant able interference of the Chinese with

The alarmist section of the Macao community seems to have made up their the most probable excuse for interference which could be put forward the by Chinese is the abuses of the coolie trade. Our own object at the present moment is not which complete and satisfactory action is being taken in certain quarters far distant from the Holy City, but, assuming the speedy extinction of that iniquitous traffic, to consider the position of Macao point of view. The non-ratification of Sr Guimaraes'

Treaty has, although fully justified by the nassionate and injudicious behaviour of Senhor Amaral at the time of attempt ing the ratification, resulted unsatisfactorily for both China and Portugal. While we fully share the indignation expressed at the abuses to which its government has hitherto permitted the shelter of its flag, we do not believe that it is likely that China would ever be morally supported, much less practically aided, in an attempt to re-possess itself of the peninsula though we greatly doubt if any active interference would take place should by any warlike operations short of capture. It must be recollected that Macao has herself wilfully alienated the respect of other foreign nations, and that the feeling of reprobation for certain acts so freely expressed in China has been shared and even exceeded by the Lisbon press, which has denounced the Portuguese Colony in no measured terms. On the other hand, were Macao formally acknowledged as Portuguese territory and Portugal and China brought into proper diplomatic connection, the pass history of Portugalitself would give us confidence that abuses would be dealt with. But at present, there seems to exist only a nort of half-and-half feeling of responsibility for the acts of her Colony, much like that felt by England for the newly established factories in Hindostan, before the Indian Empire became an inseparable portion of the British dominions. It is therefore exceedingly desirable on all accounts that the uncertain position of Macao be as soon as possible altered for the better. The Chinese are ready to admit the fact of Portuguese possession and would, we believe, resign for ever al claims to jurisdiction, upon the official assurance of Portugal, backed by the guarantee of the other treaty powers, that the abuses heretofore existing should totally cease. It is perfectly well under-
